

Possible

Plausible

Probable

Preferable

1.5°C

Universal Basic Lifestyle

Human behaviour shifts to sustainable

Complete peace with all beings and machines

Manos Event

Rules are a construct
Anarchy

Crypto thrives

Public health crisis

Identity dysmorphia

People are cheaper or more expendable than machines

New forms of discrimination

Widespread destruction

Anarchy where everyone makes their own machines

End of religion as we know it, hellish

Human-Machine conflict (economic, etc)

Adverse environmental impact of machine use

Massive scale Ecocide

Natural resources gaining rights

Crypto Underground Movement

Pseudo-aging machines

Progressive machine rights

Making machines as a hobby

Production of custom tools and practices

Climate Refugees

Trust, Transparency of interfaces, machine character, relative of emotion

Para-social relationships with machines

Intimate Machine-Human Relationships

Machine-Human Connected Relations

Democratisation of digital technosocial spaces

Sustainable machine production and practices

Machines culture, religion

Rise of independent creators/makers/creators for a diverse marketplace

Spiritual and meaningful relationships with machines

Sustainable economic growth fuelled by machine productivity

Peaceful co-existence with machines

Machines culture, religion